Chicanx / Latinx in Health Education

About CHE

- CHE was originally founded in 1972 as a result of an increased awareness and desire by students, the community, and the AAMC (American Association of Medical Colleges) to increase the number of Chicanx/Latinx students interested in pursuing careers in the health field. CHE continues this tradition by encouraging underrepresented students to pursue a graduate level education while also giving back to underserved communities. As a member, you can expect the organization to educate you on issues of medicine, culture, social and political issues, application processes and ultimately inspire you to become a sensitive and productive healer who will make a profound impact on society.
